ITEMS PICKED UP AROUND THE CLUB

Forty more shopping days till Christmas. Count them for yourself. Of course you never saw this in any other paper. Oh, no.

Real dyed in the wool hunters are envying the man who went out in his yard the other morning and found a hawk had a flock of Hungarians (partridges we mean) scared to death. He got his gun, got the partridges and the rest was easy pickings—at least we suppose so, although we did not get in on the pickings.

Tex has again appeared in our midst looking in the "pink." We have not got the details of the trip yet. Oh, yes, there will be details.

Doctor: "Does your husband drink Mrs. MacDonald?" Mrs. Mac: "No sir, never—not unless he's asked"

Everybody will wear a poppy on Armistice Day—it's about the least we can do to help the boys who make them for a living.

Wonder who will make the trip to Regina to the convention. Quite a few would like to go, but—

Shorty has been sick for the past few days and the "cats" have not been in evidence—never mind we hope to open up soon, bigger and better than ever.

Uncle is now in good shape for the winter. The Eskimos will welcome him with open arms and there will be many "blubber" parties in his honor. The royal and ancient games of "rum my" will no doubt flourish amongst the natives, and you can bet Uncle will get his.

The boys are looking for the largest crowd ever at the Armistice dance. You'll be there, of course.

A certain Judge threatened that he would turn the next person who laughed, out of the court, whereupon the prisoner in the dock had hysterics. Oh yes.

A pedestrian is a man whose son also has a driver's license. Ain't it the truth.

OBITUARY

Mrs. J. W. Johnston

Much sorrow was felt in Vulcan and district on the occasion of the death of Mrs. Joseph Wells Johnston which took place at her home on Saturday last.

Mary Elizabeth Kennedy was born at Nanaimo, Ontario, on February 21, 1851, and went to Winnipeg in 1870, where on November 2nd, 1871 she was married to Mr. Johnston who predeceased her in 1917. Here they operated the boarding portion of the first hotel in that city.

In 1873 they moved to Carman, Manitoba, and settled on the banks of the Boyne River, where they resided until 1905 when they took up residence six miles south of Vulcan, and it was here that death took place on the 58th anniversary of the wedding.

The deceased lady leaves to mourn her loss a family consisting of John Johnston, Mrs. Wm. Ritchie and Joseph Johnston, Sam Johnston and Hamilton Johnston, all of Vulcan, also Mrs. D. S. Brown of Carman, besides thirty grandchildren and sixteen great grandchildren.

The funeral, which took place on Monday, was very largely attended, service being held at the home, at the United Church, of which deceased was a member, and at the graveside, Rev. J. N. Brunton, officiating.

Bearers were: D. H. Galbraith, George Galbraith, A. J. Flood, William Bowie, George Buck and R. L. Elves.

Many beautiful floral offerings bore testimony of affection for the deceased and sympathy with the sorrowing relatives.

The deceased, during her 25 years residence here, has made many sincere friends who sincerely regret her passing, which regret is shared by the whole community.

ACTIVITIES OF ENSIGN W.I.

On Friday evening, November 1st, the Ensign school was a scene of gaiety when the W. I. entertained about thirty members of neighboring Institutes.

The ladies from Vulcan were met at the train by two ghosts who also received the other guests. Pumpkins and other seasonal decorations made the school house very attractive. After the guests had all arrived a short address of welcome was given by Mrs. P. L. Bourque, then the following numbers were heard: "The Maple Leaf" by audience; violin and piano duet by Mrs. E. E. Southgate and daughter Lillian; vocal solo by Mrs. A. M. Meyers; court waltz was then in order. Mrs. J. Green of Brant winner of first prize. The consolation went to Mrs. C. Boyd of Ensign.

At midnight a very palatable lunch was served by the hostesses and at this time a tiny envelope containing a fortune was handed to each—one present who was asked to read them out, some of them were very amusing. This brought to a close a very enjoyable evening and Ensign appreciates the way in which Vulcan and Brant turned out to their first party; also they were pleased to have with them Mrs. Aleck of Champion, district con-venor) who made a very short but in-spiring speech before taking her de-parture.

Alta, Captolia Smith was born in Iowa in 1859, and with her parents removed to Alba, Mo., where she resided until her marriage to William H. Journey on November 7, 1882, when she and her husband resided near Carthage, Mo., until moving to the Vulcan district in 1904 where they remained until 1928.

Mr. and Mrs. Journey then removed to Grand Prairie where they resided until the time of Mrs. Journey's death.

Ellis Adair

(Too Late for Last Week)

A very sad accident occurred in the Willard school district to the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Adair, Sunday, October 20th, when little Ellis Adair, 11 years and 8 months, riding for some cattle, was thrown off his horse against a post and broke his leg below the hip.

He was rushed to the Vulcan hospital the same afternoon but passed away at 7.30 when coming from under the anaesthetic, from suffocation.

Funeral service was held in the Willard school, Wednesday morning at 11.30. The funeral sermon was conducted by Mr. Beauchamp and Mr. Hawkins also assisted in prayer.

Ellis leaves to mourn his loss, his father, mother, four brothers, Harold Lloyd, Raymond and Norman; five sisters, Avis, Bertha, Dora, Dorothy and Verna.

Four of the Willard school boys who acted as pallbearers were Marshall Willard, Clyde Russell, Allan Jackson and William Richards.

Ellis was laid to rest in the municipal cemetery. His sudden death caused a wave of sorrow to overshadow the community in which he lived.

The residents of the whole district wish to express their sympathy to the bereaved family.

Oh we miss our precious darling, With his sunny smiling face, And his kind friends gather around us No one else can take his place. And we plead for grace to guide us, Up the shining golden stair, Where our darling gone before us, Laying Saviour hear our prayer.

WILL IT BE PEACE

If Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald had stayed over in Canada, to observe us during a hockey season, would he be quite so optimistic over the ultimate reign of peace, even in the Anglo-Saxon breed? The annual war will shortly be upon us.

It will be remembered that the opinions and convictions which are regarded as most admirable and right during peace times, are the very convictions, which, if expressed or acted upon, land a man in jail and ignominy during war. Is it the opinions that are wrong, or the conditions of war which make them wrong.

To a very similar extent, the same situations arise in the hockey season. Early every fall we start with noble sentiments, which most of us begin to shed one by one in the heat of the fray. In fact the man who tries to hang to the shreds of cool, unbiased judgment, is regarded somewhat with suspicion by many.

If we can only get through this winter, and emerge into spring, maintaining untarnished the highest standards of sportsmanship, and keeping a proper perspective on the fleeting things of life, then we will not only have raised the standard of sport, but we will also, in a small way, have promoted the fundamentals of universal peace.

FUTURE BRIGHT

Grain shipments in Southern Alberta have now reached the 30,000,000 mark and it is believed another eight million bushels remains in the hands of the farmers. Thus the 1929 crop is going to surpass initial forecasts very substantially. Last year the Lethbridge railway division marketed 47,000,000 bushels, so that this year's crop is likely to be 10,000,000 bushels less, although it has been figured by those close to the grain situation that the crop represents as much money as that of last year. In addition to the new money coming to farmers from grain, the sugar beet crop will put another million in the pockets of the growers.

Southern Alberta is enjoying a wave of unprecedented prosperity and all lines of business in Lethbridge are reporting business brisk, with a bright outlook for the holiday trade. The coal mines are working steadily now and full time work during the winter months is anticipated.

A prominent man from England, speaking at Toronto, stated that actually there are 7000,000 more people employed in Britain today than there were six years ago, while there are a million and a half more gainfully employed citizens than before the war. This indicates real industrial progress in the Motherland.

NOVA SCOTIA VOTES

On October 31 the keen contest being waged in Nova Scotia between prohibition forces and those of liquor control, will be settled. It is impossible to say which will win.

The sincerity of the supporters on both sides cannot be questioned. Amongst the avowed advocates of liquor control are many representative men, many of them total abstainers, who believe that some system of control is the best way in which to promote true temperance. On the other hand supporters of prohibition are firm in belief that through efficient enforcement of the Nova Scotia Temperance Act, the best interests of the province can most wisely be served.

There are no political issues to confuse the electorate. Among advocates of prohibition and their opponents the question of politics has had no place.

It is a straight appeal. The decision rests with the men and women of Nova Scotia, and October 31 will decide in which direction lies the popular choice.

TWO MEN SKETCHED

In a live sketch of J. D. McGregor, Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba which appears in a recent magazine, the following reference has been made to our fellow townsmen, Senator Riley: "In build the lieutenant-governor is a burly man, six feet tall. He weighs about 230 pounds. Beneath shaggy eyebrows shrewd eyes appraise men and affairs, one can safely surmise, at their precise worth. As a lieutenant-governor he was still Jim McGregor to at least two-thirds of the people he encountered in the lobby of the Royal Alexandra Hotel in Winnipeg one recently Sunday forenoon. On that day he had arisen at half past four in the morning to greet an old friend of his early cattle days, none other than Senator Dan Riley, of Alberta, who still has a ranch at High River. Despite the cloistering walls of the Senate, Senator Riley, like J. D. McGregor, still retains that wind-bitten look of a man who has been long on prairie trails."

PEACE RIVER'S FUTURE

John M. Imrie, writing in The Ottawa Citizen, points out that "Alberta in her 24th year as a province has attained a record of $330,000,000 in value of agriculture production, but already Peace River is producing more than all Alberta did 24 years ago. In this year of below-average crops elsewhere, Peace River will contribute one-tenth of Alberta's total wheat. It is a safe prediction that well within 10 years Peace River's wheat production will exceed that of all Alberta today."

By equipping police automobiles with short wave radio sets, the police departments of United States are greatly simplifying their own problems and complicating those of criminals. The instant a crime is reported, the news is caught by the various armed police automobiles in different parts of the city, and quick action results. It is said that crime has been cut down one third by this device.

A short wave transmitter equips the cars with receivers that do not respond to ordinary broadcasting, and are silent until an actual message comes from headquarters.

ARTIFICIAL ICE

Stock is now selling in the Calgary Artificial Ice Arena Co. The new artificial ice palace will be located on the corner of 9th Street and 21st Ave. south east. When completed the balcony will seat 4000 people. Good heating and ventilating systems will be provided. An issue of $150,000 worth of stock has been put on the market.

If and when this arena is completed it will to a great extent provide a solution for satisfactory play-off games. The directors contend that such a building is essential to this part of the province, and when not in use for hockey and skating, will provide a stadium for the use of the city.

BANG, BANG!

On November 1, Alberta sportsmen will be starting out after the monarchs of the hills, the forests and the mountains. The following open seasons start on November 1: deer to December 14, limit one male only; moose, to December 14, limit one only; fox to February 28; mink, martens, red squirrel till March 31; other till April 30. There are restricted areas for deer. No hunting is allowed in the territory south of the North Saskatchewan and east of the C. P. R. from Edmonton to Macleod, thence following range lines between ranges 25 and 26 to the international boundary.

Moose and caribou are reported to be in numbers in the Rocky Mountain House area. The season for huns closes November 15.

The announcement that the Dominion government will attempt the breeding of reindeer in the so-called barren lands makes one wonder if there is any area in Canada that can be set down as barren or waste. Step by step we have seen our unproductive areas converted into sources of wealth for our people. The rock-bound waste of our northland, the Cinderella of Canadian territories, is now a petted princess, the pre-Cambrian area. The wall of mountains between the western plains and the Pacific slope is rapidly becoming one of the world's great tourist areas. And now we propose to establish a reserve food supply on the tundra of the Arctic fringe. Truly there is no waste land in Canada.

ACTION FOR DAMAGE

Action for $10,783 damages has been filed in the supreme court by Emily Bjorkland against the City of Edmonton.

Plaintiff charges breach of contract, improper discharge and negligence against the Royal Alexandra Hospital an institution owned and operated by the city.

She alleges that as a result of the above mentioned allegations she was unable to finish her course at the nurses' training school, and if she resumed her course at any other training school, the time she served with defendant would not be allowed in full and she would have to serve longer time than she otherwise would and except for the negligence of defendant, would have earned, as a graduate nurse, $5 a day.

She alleges that she was caused to work beyond her strength; that defendant knew she was becoming ill, and her illness was attributed to a nervous breakdown rather than the inception of tuberculosis; that she was wrongfully operated on for appendicitis in the hope of restoring her to health.

This case will be anxiously followed by numerous people throughout the province and it may have an influence in bringing about changes that will give protection to those in training at that institution.

Eve was a very tall lady—or at least that what the Arabs believe. They believed her to be 200 feet high, and her tomb at Jiddah, the seaport of Mecca where the first apple woman is supposed to lie, is in proportion to her extreme height. This tomb has not been opened in more than a thousand years.

WHEAT STEALING

Man Operated with Light Ford Truck And Sold at Different Elevators

Corporal Frewin has had a few cases of wheat stealing to investigate. But the culprit was attempting to cover a fairly extensive area between Vulcan and Nanton, and had marketed grain at Ensign, Brant and Cayley. He was caught at Brant and taken to Vulcan and given a hearing and sent to Calgary for trial. He was consigned to the Lethbridge jail for seven months. The culprit is a Lomond man.

He operated with a Ford light delivery, and would cache the small loads in some convenient place until he had accumulated enough to make a delivery to some elevator. His story at the elevators when selling the grain was that his grain truck had broken down, and he had to unload it to have it fixed. This was to account for the small deliveries in the light Ford, which would only carry about 12 bushels.

In the Nanton vicinity the victims reported are L. McPeak, who lost 85 bushels, Mr. Hulme, on the Murray Caspell place, who lost 48 bushels. The McPeak wheat had been traced to the owner and by Corp. Frewin to Brant, and had been reported to Const. Davies at Vulcan, and had been included in the charges at Vulcan, to which the culprit pleaded guilty.

Mr. Hulme's wheat was taken from a granary which he seldom visited, and the loss was not discovered for at least three weeks. The grain was traced to Cayley, and it was found to be the work of the man who was already in jail for the other thefts.—Nanton News.

CLASSES PLANNED

Technical Subjects May Be Taught During the Evening, Turner Valley

There is a strong possibility that evening classes in several technical subjects will be organized in Turner Valley in the near future, according to Dr. W. G. Carpenter, provincial director of technical education, who stated Monday that the Institute of Technology and Art is arranging to give assistance to the Turner Valley school district in the matter of organizing night classes.

At a recent meeting of Royalty employees at which Dr. Carpenter delivered an address on technical education, nearly ninety men signified their intention of enrolling in evening classes if they are organized. Scores of men employed by other companies in the field are also keenly interested in the proposal to organize technical night classes.

On Monday evening, November 4, at 7:30 o'clock, a special meeting will be held in Royalty hall, Turner Valley, to which all oil field workers interested in the proposed classes are invited to attend. Dr. Carpenter will discuss the formation of evening classes and it is hoped that the work of organization can be carried to a point where it will be possible to commence giving instruction within a few weeks.

The classes for which oil men have shown a demand are steam engineering, theory, electrical theory, acetylene welding, engineering mathematics and applied mechanics. When organized, the classes will be conducted similarly to those at the Technical Institute and it is probable that the same courses of study will be used.

SPUD IN OIL WELL

Alberta Superior Oil Well Being Sunk Near Home Oil Property

The "spudding in" ceremony in vogue at Turner Valley when new wells are started, was witnessed on Tuesday afternoon, when the Alberta Superior well was started on its career. A. C. McDougall, president of the company, and directors and shareholders as well as others. The well which is located east of Home, has a 124 foot derrick and the drill is 24 inch. After surface water is controlled, the hole proper will be started with an 18 inch bit. Mr. McDougall in a short speech said he had been successful in securing about $240,000 for the drilling program, in the east. F. L. Watt, president of the Board of Trade was present and on behalf of citizens of High River, he expressed the hope that success would follow the drilling operations of the new well. James McKinnon who owns the surface rights of the land on which the well is located, wished the company success and on the drillers and crew would depend the important work of keeping the hole in perfect condition.

Alberta is noted for its fine autumn weather but September and October of this year have beaten all records in eight years. These two months have had the highest mean temperature, the least precipitation and the least number of storms since the fall of 1921.

Alberta's cities, towns and country sides have been almost continuously bathed in golden sunshine. Weather conditions have rivalled the most pleasant autumn days.

Precipitation this September was only one inch, and so far in October one inch. This was spread over the months in small quantities so that it did not make any precipitation change in the weather.

ALBERTA INDUSTRY

A Unique Booth Sponsored by the Red Cross Society

Thousands of people attended night by, the "Made in Alberta" exhibition which was held in the Riverview Pavilion, Edmonton, on the week of October 7th for six days.

Amongst the many attractive booths which presented in graphic form, the story of their special industry, was a unique one sponsored by the Red Cross Society. No matter what time of day one passed this stall was the centre of attraction, and the visitors who came to look remained to listen.

The Society put forth some startling claims to attention. One large poster proclaimed the fact that in the year 1928 30,000 boys and girls were made healthier and happier under the Junior Red Cross in the schoolrooms of Alberta.

Not only in the making but the repairing business is found that forward humanitarian Society, for as we read, we see that 179 children and 350 adults were repaired in the hospitals operated by the Red Cross.

Such startling facts require some thinking about, and in order to assist the passer-by to visualize the inner meaning of the statistics, there were presented to the eye, two models, one of better health and the other of an open air hospital ward. Interested children crowded round the small solarium which is a replica of the large Calgary tent where many small cripples have been woo'd back to health under the beneficent rays of Alberta's sunshine.

The other striking model showed health as an investment for all, and by means of green fields and water pools, and sleek cattle the value of personal hygiene and pure food was featured.

The agitation for "Safety First" especially amongst children of the city streets was cleverly illustrated by a model of a section of a crowded thoroughfare where an accident had occurred and a Red Cross ambulance was busy rescuing the victims.

Figures relating to the cost of government in Indiana, prepared by the department of commerce, show an increase from $4.28 per capita in 1917 to $8.76 in 1928, or about 100 per cent. in slightly more than a decade.

"HELLS HALF ACRE"

"Hell's Half Acre" Graphically Described in English Paper

Men have gone mad while gazing into the leaping flames from Hell's Half Acre in Turner Valley. At least that's what a contributor to Tit-Bits, English periodical, asserts in the following lurid description of the spectacle in the current issue of the paper:

"What is the most awe-inspiring spectacle you have ever witnessed? To those who have seen 'Hell's Half Acre' there is but one answer.

"Hell's Half Acre! Who was the genius that invented that name? Can you imagine what Dante's Inferno must have been like?

"Night. A narrow banked creek of half an acre on the edge of the vast Turner Valley oilfields of Canada. The ravine filled with more gas than is burned any day in every furnace and boiler in Birmingham and Manchester, he whole set alight; a blazing inferno, a mighty rushing torrent of flame, shooting with hissing, roaring volume forty feet of red and yellow streaks into the sky. That is, 'Hell's Half Acre'!

"Technically it is the overflow valley of the oilfields. So vast is the production of gas that there is an overproduction for which as yet there is no economic outlet. So millions of cubic feet of gas, ignited as they are released from giant pipes, are discharged over the sloping banks into the creek.

"And for miles down the valley the roar of the seething furnace is echoed from hill to hill, and fifty miles away a blood-red glow in the sky announces the presence of the dreaded inferno.

Men have gone mad gazing into its heart. They have seen an army of crimson soldiers marching from the flames. They have seen the hosts of Hell rise from the smoke. They have seen a titanic monster glowering in the depths.

"Such is the awesome majesty of Hell's Half Acre."

"That is wonderful," exclaimed the stranger. "How long have you been here?" "I was born here."
